1. Claims 1-10 are allowable over the prior art of record.
2. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.
3. Claims 11-15 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

On line 3 of independent claim 11, the phrase "corresponds to a data storage terminal" does not clearly and definitely claim a "data storage terminal."

Similarly, on line 4 of independent claim 11, the phrase "corresponds to a data collection terminal" does not clearly and definitely claim a "data collection terminal."

Dependent claims 12-15 are unclear in that they depend from unclear independent claim 11.

4. 35 U.S.C. 101 reads as follows:

Whoever invents or discovers any new and useful process, machine, manufacture, or composition of matter, or any new and useful improvement thereof, may obtain a patent therefor, subject to the conditions and requirements of this title.

Claims 11-15 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 101 because the claimed invention is directed to non-statutory subject matter.

Independent claim 11 is directed to computer software or code per se, and thus, fails to fall into one of the statutory categories of invention under 35 USC 101. Please see the Guidelines in MPEP 2106. It is noted that Figure 7 is identified as providing the illustration of the claimed subject matter of apparatus claims 11-15, but Figure 7 is plainly a computer algorithm flow chart, as opposed to an illustration of an apparatus in a circuit diagram or in a block diagram. The discussion of Figure 7 on pages 12-14 of the Specification seems to present software modules, rather than some sort of tangible device. It is noted that lines 11-13 of page 12 of the Specification plainly states that the "distribution group" is "source code." Further, the passage at page 13, line 28 through page 14, line 16 of the Specification plainly states that the "system of the present invention" could "take the form of program code." Under 35 USC 101, software or code may be statutory subject matter for a patent application if embodied on a computer readable medium; but, software or code may never per se be an apparatus or system.

Dependent claims 12-15 recite no tangible structural elements to join to the code or software of independent claim 11.
